

COVID-19 Advocacy

Our clinical experts are here for you if you've been diagnosed with COVID-19

American Health's Case Management team is here to provide emotional and educational support if you have tested positive for COVID-19.

Our experienced staff can:

- Help you manage your symptoms
- Educate you on how to limit your exposure to others
- Review other health issues you may have that need to be considered
- Help address questions or concerns you have
- Provide emotional support
- Develop a follow-up plan until you've recovered

We can provide these services for you or anyone on your health plan who has been diagnosed with COVID-19. If you have not been positively diagnosed with COVID-19 but believe you may have been exposed, please contact your physician or a telemedicine professional if available.
